Chin and Chatter

It is with regret that we chronicle the untimely demise of one dear to the hearts of all Mainiacs. Bananas recently kicked in at his new home at Highmoor Farm.

Attention is called to the splendid piece of sculpturing standing in front of Balentine. Have we budding geniuses in our midst or are the co-eds in need of a man who will stay with them till he melts away?

Wanted: A strong young man to escort "Al" Swett on and off the bleachers at the basketball games.

From appearances at the beginning of the semester the psychology students should change the song "Oh How I Love Myself" to "I Love Me."

Wanted: A co-ed to keep "Joe" McCarthy straight. Please leave name and address at Delta Tau.

Wonder what author the Dickens Fellowship will go to work on when they've exhausted Dickens. And do ghosts ever sigh with relief?

We noticed the staunch blue-coated guardian of this region's public safety directing the University snowplow. Evidently he, too, is feeling the business depression, when the number of autos in the parking space does not exercise his ability all day.

And to think that some rude Halvahd boys pelted our own Rudy with some over-ripe vegetable products while he was playing in a Boston theatre. Were they degenerates, or did they lack a sense of humor?

Out in Washington State, a college paper figures that a freshman who tries hard, can collect anywhere from 4 to 44 society keys and pins. Three is a good average here.

Planes Visit Campus During Finals Week; Many Take Air Trip

The monotony of final examinations last week was unexpectedly broken up by the appearance of an airplane behind the Arts and Sciences Building Tuesday noon. It started taking up passengers, and students flocked there in large numbers. Business was progressing rapidly until the aviator and his mechanic were showed away at the behest of the Dean of the College. The halt was short-lived, however, as they took up operations soon on the Stillwater River opposite the Sigma Nu House. Many passengers were taken up during the remainder of the afternoon.

Wednesday afternoon the same plane returned and proceeded to take the thoughts of the students far from the trials and tribulations of their finals. Most of the passengers on these two days were of the sterner sex. Three planes were in evidence Saturday afternoon, and they were kept busy by students, rejoicing over the fact that at last finals were through. This time many of the fair sex were present and seemed to enjoy "aviating" as much as the men.

The plans sent here on Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons was an American Eagle Biplane, owned by the Crymble Aircraft Corporation of Bangor, and was piloted by Jack Dodge, an experienced pilot. The pilot of the other Biplane on Saturday was Frank Phillips, of Rockland.

BALENTINE SKATING RINK NOW READY

The skating rink in the rear of Balentine Hall is now ready for the use of any girls that desire to skate. Powerful floodlights have been installed that will illuminate the rink at night. This will make it possible for many of the girls to skate who have not the time to do so during the day.

Bailey Picks Cast Of "Journey's End" Striking War Play

LEVENSALE AND BITTNER HAVE LEADING ROLES IN
PLAY BY R. C. SHERRIFF

Drama enthusiasts will have an opportunity to see the Masque's interpretation of R. C. Sherriff's striking war play—"Journey's End" on February 25th and 26th. This production, the unusual in stage and light effects, will undoubtedly mark the peak of the organization's season. The portrayal of its high dramatic scenes is a tremendous undertaking for an amateur group, however, with Professor Bailey's hand-picked cast, headed by Atwood Levensaler as Captain Stanhope and Alfred Bittner as Lieutenant Osborne, the Masque followers may well expect to see a dramatic unit of real merit. The cast is as follows:

Atwood Levensaler '32 in the powerful role of a young man, torn and haggard with the nervous strain of a long and oppressive responsibility as a company commander on the front lines, will another time have a chance to display his genuine dramatic ability. Captain Stanhope, about whom the play moves, is an ever changing emotional character.

Alfred Bittner '34 in his first appearance on the Alumni stage has been awarded a splendid part upon which to begin his career as an amateur actor. Lieutenant Osborne—the quiet, peace-loving school master thrown in the environment of a horrible struggle, is indeed an admirable character. Mr. Bittner's conception of the part in his debut will be watched with interest by the University's dramatic circle.

John Longley '34 is 2nd Lieutenant Raleigh—the young boy fresh from school, is well suited to the part. Those who saw him in his first appearance as Young Marlowe have every reason to believe that he will ably register a fine notion of the character.

Strong Competition To Be Given by Frosh In Annual Track Meet

The Freshman-Sophomore Track Meet will be held this coming Saturday afternoon on the track in the Indoor Field. This athletic contest, which has become an annual event on the sports calendar at the University, has resulted in some keen competition (in the past). This meet, besides determining the removal or continuance of Freshman Rules, has aided Coach Jenkins in getting a line on potential point winners for future teams, and has also added the desired impetus that track needs during the indoor season. It is believed by many that the meet this year will be more hotly contested than ever before.

In years past, a win for the Sophomores has generally been conceded, because of their added experience. This year, however, the Freshmen are conceded a good chance to win, because of the group of fine material that is reporting daily for work outs. If a win is gained by the yearlings, the prospects for future winning teams will be greatly enhanced, and also a time of great rejoicing in the ranks of the neophytes.

The second year men are well represented in the dashes, middle distances and field events. Means and Wilson, outstanding sprinters on the freshman team of last year, will compete in both dash events. Stiff opposition is expected, however, from Webber, Parsons and Warren.

The middle distance events should display some fine running. Booth, McKiniry and Pendleton will carry the colors of 1933. Booth and McKiniry have returned from the B.A.A. Meet, where

In a recent interview, Mr. Curtis, the Faculty Manager of Athletics, touched on several subjects that may be of interest to the student body. He gave it as his opinion that there has been a gradual awakening of interest in winter sports here. He also said that if the problem of financing a skating rink were solved, that hockey would almost certainly be adopted as a sport here.

"Varsity basketball will not return for at least two years, in my opinion," said Mr. Curtis. "Bates and Maine will enter competition in the sport if two other Maine colleges will agree to do so. The Bates attitude is influenced by the fact that there is a lot of enthusiasm for the sport at that college. I consider it probable that Colby will take up the sport if certain handicaps in regard to seating arrangements can be smoothed out."

Mr. Curtis pointed out that, although the other three Maine colleges have hockey teams, in some cases the sport is run at a heavy deficit, and there is every prospect that it may be discontinued. "Also," said Mr. Curtis, "many people lose sight of the fact that Maine is located at an inconvenient distance from the out-of-state colleges, and that in case a hockey team came up here from out-of-state and found that the game had been cancelled because of poor ice, there would be a large expense to be entered on the debit side of the ledger. To make sure that there would be ice for a game, it would be necessary to have a roofed-over rink with possibly an arrangement to open the sides of the building in order that the cold out-of-door air could pass over the surface of the rink. Further, some sort of heating arrangement would be desirable for the comfort of the spectators. Therefore, in view of the large expense attached to a hockey rink, there is little chance that hockey will be adopted here in the near future."

Seniors Invited To Hear Fogler '15, Talk on Business

Raymond H. Fogler, a graduate of the University, class of 1915, director of personnel and real estate of the W. T. Grant Company chain store operators, and president of the General Alumni Association is to speak Friday afternoon, February 6 at 4:15 in Room 30, Coburn Hall. The title of his address will be "Young Men and Women in Business."

Mr. Fogler has been unusually successful in his development of personnel management and is recognized as an authority, having been called upon to give addresses in various sections of the country.

He is an interesting speaker and has had unusual contacts with hundreds of college men and women, and most of all is deeply interested in the University and the success of her students and alumni.

It was only upon rather urgent suggestion by local people that he agreed to give a talk. It is especially designed for juniors and seniors, though the meeting is open to any student. Faculty members are invited to attend.

Mr. Fogler is coming to the campus to address the Extension Conference now in session in Merrill Hall. While he is here there is to be a meeting of the Alumni Council Executive Committee. As a student, he was one of the leaders both scholastically and otherwise, having participated in many activities.

INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL

The scores of some of the recent intramural basketball games are as follows:

Kappa Sigma 34—Sigma Phi Sigma 8
Phi Kappa 12—A. T. O. 20
Lambda Chi lost to Phi Gam
Oak Hall beat Tau Epsilon Pi
Phi Eta Kappa beat Phi Kappa Sigma
Hannibal B team beat S. A. E.

Frosh Basketball Teams Resume Play After End of Finals

After a layoff due to finals, the freshman basketball teams start the second stage of their schedule this week. The first squad has thus far won games from Higgins and Kents Hill, after losing by a small margin to Gilman High.

In each of the three games played Coach Kenyon has used between twenty and thirty men, in an effort to secure a winning combination. The squad showed up well in the Kents Hill contest and, now that they have had an opportunity for team play, seem slated to give considerable trouble to future opponents.

The basketball program begins with a game with Crosby on Feb. 6, in which either Team A or Team B will be used. The following night Hebron puts in an appearance at the Armory and a hard fought game is in prospect. Coburn plays here on the 14th, and Ricker is scheduled for the 19th. The Freshmen climax their home stay by playing M.C.I. Feb. 21 in what shapes up as another interesting contest.

From Feb. 23 to the 27th Team A will journey through Aroostook where they play Caribou, Ft. Fairfield, Presque Isle, A.C.I., and Houlton on successive nights.

Squad B has played one game to date, that with Newport at Newport. On the 27th Newport comes to Orono for a return struggle. The next day the squad travels to Corinna for a game. Dates of games are pending with Orono High and with Old Town. There is also prospect of a short trip for the B squad at some time in the future.

Pan-Hellenic Council Regulates Time Allowed For Sorority Rushing

RUSHEES WILL RECEIVE
PLEDGES WEDNESDAY
NOON IN ALUMNI HALL
AFTER NEUTRAL PERIOD

The Pan-Hellenic Council has made certain regulations in regard to bidding. A Neutral Period for sorority women and eligible women will begin Sunday, February 15 at 10 p.m. During this period no sorority member shall communicate in any way whatsoever with eligible women. This Neutral Period shall continue until bids have been accepted or refused. At Coburn Hall, Wednesday, February 11 at 12:45, there will be a compulsory meeting for all eligible women.

On Monday, Feb. 16, each sorority will choose the girls it wishes to bid. This list will be taken to Coburn Hall at 8:45 p.m. after the sorority meeting. On Tuesday, the eligible girls will go to Coburn and write their sorority preferences; Tuesday night the bids will be written in the various sororities. Wednesday noon the eligible girls will receive bids at Alumni Hall. There will be no silence until after the bids are signed.

The Pan-Hellenic Handbook contains some information about each sorority which might be found helpful to prospective pledges.

There will be a compulsory meeting for all eligible women Wednesday at 12:45 in 30 Coburn. This includes all freshmen, who have a rank of 2.00 or over, and all non-sorority upperclass women having the same rank.

Freshettes and Soph Co-eds To Compete Sat.

The Freshman-Sophomore competition for women will be held Saturday morning at nine o'clock, in the Alumni Gym. The program includes a basketball game and several track events. If the first year girls are successful, they will be allowed to cast aside their hats for the remainder of the year.

Different meetings for the organization of the competing groups have been held. Monday night the Sophomores held a meeting to plan the events. Tuesday noon, the Sophomore Eagles held a mass meeting for the Freshmen to explain the event to them. Miss Rogers with the aid of several Freshman leaders is organizing the class into groups that are to participate.

The Sophomore Eagles have announced that the All Maine Women will decide upon the date of removal of the hats in case the Freshettes fail to win.

Boxing Candidates Improving Rapidly Under Louis Asali

LOUIS ASALI, Boxing Coach

For the past several weeks "the manly art of self defense" has held sway on Monday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday afternoons in Alumni gym. Due to the efforts of the coaches, a promising number of boxers have been developed. Last season, boxing was a great success as an intramural sport, and it is hoped that it will prove as popular this year. The preliminary matches will be staged sometime during the latter part of this month.

Louis Asali, the light heavy-weight champion of the University, is coach of the squad this season. It has not been decided whether or not he shall enter the tournament this year. If he should enter the tourney he would find competition in his division in Rossing, Stone, Crosson, or Comins.

In the heavy-weight division, the men are evenly matched, and before the tournament is over, there is sure to be some fireworks from the "heavies." Among the would be "Carneras" and "Dempseys" are Craig, and Hinton, Robichaud, Sullivan, Grange, Langlois, and Fitts.

The middleweight division is well represented with a number of fast men. Vernon, last year's champion, seems to be the most promising of the "middles".

Health Department Gives Out New Rules

The Health Service Department located in Coburn Hall, issues the following statement: The Health Department does not sign blue and white cards for illness. The names of students who are absent on account of illness, or because of needed medical attention, are sent to the Deans of the various colleges each week. Students, after reporting absences to the Health Service Department, should go to their Dean's office to sign cards. No student's name will be sent in on the "illness report" unless he has reported to the Health Service Department during his illness. All calls should be put in before 10 A.M. or 2 P.M.

Doctor's hours at Coburn are 10:30-11:30 and 3:30-4:30. The services of the nurses are available in the dormitories and fraternity houses in case of illness.

Some material for typhoid inoculation is now available to University students wishing the treatment.

The M. O. C. winter sports team, the strongest to represent Maine in years, will receive its first and biggest test Saturday, Feb. 7, when it battles Bates, Bowdoin, and Colby in a four-cornered meet for the State Championship.

Under the guiding hand of coach Ted Curtis, some twenty men have been steadily improving in the various snow sports during the past month. Some of the men are veterans of many contests. Leif Sorenson has gained steady acclaim for his unusually good work on the Lake Placid and Rumford jumps; Wilfred Davis, who also manages the team, won the intercollegiate ski jump championship at Bates two years ago and has yet to be dethroned. Both of these men are proficient in all the ski events, but are being closely pushed by Robert Simpson, Bruce Ashworth, Harry Davis, Greene, Trask, and Foley.

In the snowshoe events, the Hardison brothers, Harry Booth, and Steve Mank are already well known. In addition, there are Winston Robbins, Vincent Ashton, and Kenneth Aldrich, all of whom can be counted on to come through in the pinches.

The Maine Outing Club is sending a large team, of a dozen or more men, to Lewiston, and is confident of bringing back first honors. The strongest opposition is expected from Bates, who has won the State Championship consecutively for the last nine years.

The team leaves for Lewiston Friday morning, and will return Sunday afternoon.

Senate Meeting Held; Total of Blotter Sale Announced by O'Neil

The Student Senate, at its regular meeting Tuesday night in Rogers Hall discussed various measures.

The meeting opened with the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting. There was no old business to be taken up. Under the head of new business, President O'Neil reported that the sale of blotters to support the bear had netted $27.02. With the expenses paid, there will be a deficit of a few dollars. Dean Corbett reviewed the rules governing the allocation of visitors to the various fraternity houses, and devoted some time to explaining in detail the system now in force, of reimbursing the houses for their expense in boarding the visitors who may come here for a game or convention.

The situation in regard to fraternity booths at formal dances was also discussed. It was decided that for the time being, the arrangement followed at the Military Hop shall be in force. The Senate felt that the system should be given a further trial before anything was done to alter it.

There was considerable discussion on the subject of the reinstatement of basketball as a varsity sport. Dean Corbett gave as his opinion that at least a year would elapse, in all probability, before any steps could be taken.

After the close of the meeting some members of the Senate remained later to count the votes for the various committees of the Senior and Sophomore classes.

TRI-DELT MASCOT RESCUED FROM WOULD-BE KIDNAPPER

Several days ago in Orono, Tamsin, the Tri-Delta mascot, was kidnapped. It seems that a man with a sleigh and rope took a vast liking to the dog. The matron of the house recognized Tammy by the Delta birthmark on his tail and at once let her protégés know that their dog was being kidnapped. The girls hurried to the rescue. Now Tamsin is home safe with his young mistresses, and has completely forgotten about the wonderful sleigh-ride which he was going to have.

There has been a good deal of criticism of the statement on the blanket tax ticket that students at this University will have to pay admission to see the state meet. The criticism is based on misinformation.

The State Meet is conducted by an organization made up of the colleges within the state. Two years ago, the association voted that the students of the college where the meet was to be held, should have to pay admission just as the students of the other colleges would. This leaves no option with the authorities of any college in the association. By the rules adopted, therefore, Maine students will have to pay to see the meet. As one authority here put the situation, "The home college simply furnishes the grounds and track for the meet—in all other respects it is on an equal footing with the visiting colleges."

Regardless of their own opinions and wishes, the authorities here must follow the rules laid down by the association, and therefore are compelled to charge students admission.

We do not care from whence come words (or even hints) of wisdom, whether out of the mouths of.....or where-not. We refer to the letter of our earnest young friend, "W. R. M.", who says things about our winter activities here at Maine. We do congratulate him for the hockey team of his high school, and we do hope that he will meet with no more disappointments.

About this winter sport question, we were talking with one of the members of the faculty recently about this same thing. Although we had a bit of difficulty in separating his ideas from his words, we shall attempt to set his opinion alongside that of the disappointed one. "Professor" said that the explanation that has been put forward that we are too used to too much winter to be interested in winter sports is all wet because the further north one goes the more sports he finds. "Professor" claimed that the "bucolic" attitude was to blame. On cross examination, he broke down and admitted that he meant the attitude of a back country farmer who considered that anyone who physically exerted for the pleasure of exercise was a fool. He expanded the idea by telling us that sports were in origin mostly from the upper classes, that they were considered "smart" years ago and were to-day. To clarify his point—we admit we are a bit so—he took us to the 18th century in England and pictured one of the tillers of the soil gazing with mouth open at a gentleman, with his hounds, getting all hot and excited in pursuit of a fox. Then "Professor" linked up with the quaint—for him—idea that college was supposed to prepare for life, the idea that winter sports might help to do that little thing. He claimed that he had never seen a prosperous middle-aged business man either putting-the-shot, playing football, or even pole vaulting for purposes of a little healthful relaxation, but that he had seen them playing golf and tennis and, in particular, indulging in various winter sports in Quebec and the White Mountains. "Professor's" last offering was that after all "the younger generation" enjoyed their sports vicariously (see Webster—we did—confidentially, it means "sitting down"), and that there was no hope for them.

It was all quite discouraging. However, for reasons, we shall not disagree with our learned friend, but as to "W. R. M." that is another story. He has not been long with us. Had he been he would have known that this winter there has been more activity on the part of the students as a whole than for several years previously. He need not have been long with us to have been informed as to the Outing Club. A longer time would have given him the knowledge that the Outing Club has been more active and has received better support from the students than it has for some time. In addition, if he read his college paper—or others for that matter—he would know of the respectable showing that the winter sports team made at Lake Placid, and of their plans for further competition.

It is a matter of regret that we have no opportunity for skating during the most of the winter. As to hockey, we understand, that a rink and a hockey team were attempted several years ago, but that because the weather conditions were discouragingly unsatisfactory, the attempt was given up. No one can be blamed for weather conditions, but we wish there had been greater persistence. Two winters unfavorable for a rink might well come in sequence, but what would we eat if all the farmers to whom the weather had been unkind for two consecutive seasons, gave up farming? How do the other three colleges solve the problem?

"W. R. M.'s" letter may serve to draw some attention to one phase of college life that does seem to have suffered some neglect here at Maine. We have real winters—good winters—here; so why not take advantage of the opportunities they offer, not only for the possible extension of organized athletics but also for a broadening of general student activity and interests. The possibilities of winter have been more exploited this winter than for some years. Because of this fact and the fact that we have a faculty manager of athletics who recognizes the coming of winter, we may reasonably expect greater activity and interest in the future.

In closing, we express the wish that "W. R. M.'s" high school hockey team will have a most successful season.

W. F. S.

CORRESPONDENCE

Editor of the Campus:

Does everyone hibernate at Maine? I would think so had I not seen on a day fine for skiing and snow-shoeing the stream of students going from the college to join the enthusiastic Saturday afternoon audience of the local movie palace.

Home (I live in a small town near Boston) we have two skating places and a toboggan chute. Besides this, most of the younger set ski and snowshoe. Last year the high school started a hockey team. We have fun in winter.

I expected when I came to Maine that there would be some life in winter—more than at home. No skating, and when I go out on my skis, I feel alone in the world and wonder if I am doing as I should for hardly anyone else seems to be out.

I have seen what looks like Pee-Wee skating rinks back of a couple of the frat houses, but they do me no good. I was over to the ski slide the other day and that seemed Pee-Wee too. I bet one fellow stood on the shoulders of another to nail together the top of the thing—and he didn't do a very good job.

I read about the Outing Club at Dartmouth and their winter sports and of what they do at New Hampshire. Even the other three colleges of the state have hockey teams. I have heard that there is an Outing Club here, but no one seems to know anything about it. I wonder why we all go to sleep in winter here at Maine.

Yours truly,
W. R. M., '34

Dear Editor:

Maine has always held a fairly prominent place in athletics. Gradually, in the last two or three years, a form of sport, infinitely more intriguing than any other, is coming to the fore. This most popular indoor sport is cribbing. The winner here, is the individual who can most adequately consign his course to a few cards, a paper or the cuffs of a shirt. I do not doubt that few parents realize that they are not paying for their child's education. They are paying for that boy or girl to become proficient in putting the knowledge that should be in their heads, on—crib cards. A Phi Beta Kappa Key shows to best advantage on the watch chain of a Master Cribber.

The student who does not care to crib, finds it rather difficult to compete with book knowledge. As ranks are all that matter after graduation, something has to be done by the non-cribber.

This sport has reached such an advanced stage that text-books themselves are opened and copied in the examination room. A maximum amount of rank for a minimum amount of labor, brains and danger—the Cribber's Motto.

The girls gathered around the open fireplace, sang songs and gave short speeches. The sorority colors, rose and white, were attractively carried out in the decorations and refreshments.

BOOK REVIEW

The January issue of the "Maine-Spring", the medium for undergraduate literary expression, has recently been published. This issue appears to be a meaty literary morsel.

The first article in the book was after Eden, written by Philip Brockway. This article is rather iconoclastic. I should judge,—all about the Seraph Adam and Eve, Cain and several others in enlightening conversation.

azine a truly academic tone, while an anonymous author has written a clever article à la Beowulf. Students of linguistics will enjoy this latter article entitled "Song of Beowulf's Men."

Several interesting stories, with perhaps a bit too much dialect, however; and an article or two are among the other contributions.

Miss Nicholas of Orono discussed Miss Betsy Trotwood, a Dickens character. Prof. Scamman of the Maine faculty, spoke of some items of interest to Dickensians. Miss Harlow of Old Town, gave two instrumental solos. At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served by the hostess.

WESLEY FOUNDATION TO HOLD ANNUAL STUDENT-FACULTY BANQUET

The Wesley Foundation Student Council of the Methodist Church is holding their Second Annual Student-Faculty Banquet February 10th at the Methodist Church. Dr. Clarence Cook Little, former President of the University of Maine, will be the speaker.

The other features of the Valentine banquet will be toasts introduced by "Marnie" Smith; a short skit by the Wesley Players directed by Francis Ricker; music by the Young Trio and refreshments.

Freshmen will be interested to note that permission has been given to the freshmen boys to accompany girls to the event. The Freshman girls are allowed to attend the banquet as a special affair. The banquet will be held at 6.30.

Arc Welding

Diminishes the Din of Steel
Construction to a Whisper

IN Boston—Dallas—Los Angeles—and in other cities, lofty buildings are going up so quietly that the passerby all but stops and strains an ear for the old familiar clangor.

Silently, swiftly, rigidly, economically, arc welding knits steel with joints as strong as the metal itself.

Arc welding is being used more and more in the fabrication of buildings and machinery, the construction of pipe lines and tanks, and as a repair tool of universal utility.

Development of General Electric arc welding has largely been the work of college-trained men. Others of the college men at General Electric are largely responsible for the high reputation won by hundreds of G-E products used in industry and in the home during the last thirty-seven years.

Relay Team Wins At K. of C. Track Meet

Maine made a very satisfactory showing at the K. of C. Meet held last Saturday in Boston.

Everett Gunning, entered in the Leo Larrivee special two mile run from scratch, was the first college man to finish against a field of veterans. He placed fourth.

In the three-quarter mile handicap, Harry Booth came in seventh. The officials started him at scratch, which kept him in the rear until he was able to shake off those with more fortunate handicaps and from then on he ran a fine race.

After taking a first place in his heat of the fifty yard dash, and scoring second in the semi-finals, Raymo White was nosed out. He placed fourth due to a poor start in coming out of the holes, but he made up a large part of the loss.

M.I.T. took a lacing from the Maine relay team which finished a full three yards ahead of the Tech men. The time was 3 minutes and 36 seconds. The Maine runners included Steve Mank, Bob Pendleton, Don McKiniry and Lovell Chase.

All competitors from Maine were handicapped by lack of experience on the boards, since there is no such equipment here.

EDITORIAL STAFF OF FRESHMAN PUBLICATION MEET

A meeting of the editorial staff of the "Freshman", the newly established publication of the freshman class, was held Monday evening at the home of Mr. Ramsey in Orono. Prof. James Moreland of the journalism department addressed the staff, telling in what ways the paper can be improved, and giving several suggestions. Following this talk, a social time was enjoyed. Those present included Prof. and Mrs. James Moreland, Miss Irene Sanders, Miss Hazel Scully, John Wilson, Alpheus Lyon, Kent Bradbury, Harold Siegal, Willard Caswell, Edward DeCourcy, Charles Small, and Thomas Hersey.

NOTICE

The Y.W.C.A. will give a first prize of a $2.50 (two dollar and a half) gold piece and a second prize of a silver dollar for the two best posters that are made for the Maqua publicity drive. The dates open for the contest are February 5 to 20 inclusive. The winners will be announced February 26 in the Campus.

The two prize posters will be sent through the sixteen New England colleges connected with Maqua. For further information see Louise Campbell at the M.C.A. building.

BASKETBALL GAME WITH CONNECTICUT CANCELED

The basketball game between the Maine girls and Conn. Aggies has been cancelled, due to conditions at the Connecticut school. This game was scheduled Feb. 7th, and no game will be scheduled in its place.

SERIES OF ORGAN RECITALS PRESENTED DURING FINALS

In the absence of the usual Monday morning chapel assemblies each week, Mr. Harry Smith presented a series of organ recitals from 4.30 to 5 o'clock each afternoon during the week of final examinations. The recitals were well attended, and much credit is due Mr. Smith for the splendid work. They provided enjoyable recreation for numerous students at a time when enjoyment of other sorts was not to be had.

The programs were as follows: Friday, January 23, "Dusk to Dawn", by Hogan, "Woodland Reverie", by Stultz, "Capriccio" by Rogers, "Alba", by Gazonne Amorosa from Venezia, by Nevin, "Spring Idyll", by Wilson, and "In Deepening Shadows", by Stoughton. On Monday afternoon, January 26, the program was thus: "A Song of Devotion", by Williams, "Melody Romance", by Schuler, "Largo", by Dvorak, "Valley of Dreams", by Hopkins, and "Festal Piece", by Sears. The program for Tuesday, January 27, was: "The Angelus", by Rockwell, "Song to the Evening Star", by Wagner, "Pastel", by Thompson, "Berceuse from Jocelyn", by Godard, "Beneath a Cottage Window", by Williams, and "Berceuse No. 2", by Kinder. On Wednesday afternoon the following program was presented: "Sea Gardens", by Cooke, "In the Afterglow", by Strang, "Ariel", from the "Tempest", by Stewart, "Andante Cantabile", by Tschakowsky, "Solace", by Pease, and "Night", by Jenkins. On Thursday the program included the following pieces: "The Angelus", by Lieurance, "The Lost Chord", by Sullivan, "My Task", by Ashford, "Reverie Interrompue", by Tschakowsky, "Andante Pastorale", by Alexis, and "Song Without Words", by Kinder.

The program for Friday, January 30, the last day of the examinations included: "Dawn", by Jenkins, "Humoresque", by Rockwell, "Idyll", by Ludebuehl, "Vivo Giocoso", and "Andante", from Sonatina by Rogers, "Lakme", by DeLibes, and "Good-bye", by Tosti.

The recitals were greatly appreciated by those who heard them, and it is hoped that the plan will develop into a precedent in order that the same sort of thing will be carried out each year during the examination time.

The members of the University will have an unusually good opportunity to hear a first-hand account of the present unemployment situation, at Vespers next Sunday afternoon and Assembly on Monday morning. The speaker will be Miss Ethel Miller, Industrial Secretary of the Y.W.C.A. at Lawrence, Mass. On Sunday she will discuss the responsibility of religion for social conditions such as this, and on Monday will present conditions as she knows them, with some suggestions as to causes and solutions.

Miss Miller, a graduate of Northwestern University, is doing significant work in the industrial field and is looked upon as one of the leading spirits in that field around Boston.

The Vesper service will be held in Alumni Hall at four o'clock. Special music will be provided by Professor Harry W. Smith and Mrs. Carrie Newman. Assembly will be at 9:45 Monday morning.

To correct an impression that may have been given by the article on Merrill Hall in the last Campus, Miss Greene, head of the Home Economics Department, wishes it made clear that North Hall and the Maples will continue to be used by the Department.

Feb. 23	Fordham	Undecided
Feb. 24	Emerson	Definite
Feb. 27	New Hampshire	Definite

The question to be debated is: Resolved that the states should adopt a policy of unemployment insurance.

The schedule for debates to take place here at Maine is as follows:

March 5	Colby Dual Debate	Indefinite
March 17	Oklahoma	Definitely at Orono
March	N. Y. U.	Indefinite

The date for the debate with N. Y. U. has not been definitely set. They have not yet decided which side they will uphold. The question to be debated is: Resolved: That the Eighteenth Amendment should be repealed. Maine is upholding the affirmative in this question. The schedules for the men have been arranged by Mr. Spear. Miss Fineberg is now negotiating with Bates on the subjects to be discussed.

Dual debates with Colby are also being planned. This is the first year that Colby's women are debating, and the results of this attempt are being eagerly watched.

The question that the women are debating is: Resolved: That talking pictures will have a tendency to eliminate stage drama. The women who are to argue the question with Bates will be chosen from those speaking on this question.

The women taking part in the debates are: Eva Bisbee, Jean Campbell, Clarine Coffin, Caroline Cousins, Myrilla Guilfoil, Rita Lancto, Florence Ward, Ethel Thomas.

The men are: David Barker, Maurice Cousins, William Fahey, Alfred Rubins, John Vickery, John Berry, John Gehring, James DeCourcy, Kenneth Foster, Erroll Higgins.

Those debating on the unemployment question are: Clarine Coffin, Florence Ward, Ethel Thomas, David Barker, Maurice Cousins, Alfred Rubins, John Vickery, Erroll Higgins.

CONTRIBUTOR'S CLUB WILL HOLD MEETING

A different type of meeting of the Contributors' Club will be held Thursday evening at the home of Professor Richard G. Wood on Main St. Each member is to submit an original poem. Any type of poetry will be acceptable, from an epic to a limerick.

STEPPING INTO A MODERN WORLD

Now they manufacture weather for telephone testing

A test illustrating work in the Bell Telephone Laboratories is made with the weatherometer. This device produces rain and sunshine to order, and determines the weather-resisting properties of telephone equipment.

This test indicates an interesting habit of the men engaged in telephone research. It is to get sure knowledge bearing on efficiency, economy, life and reliability of apparatus.

Information is sought continuously during the development of a design, in advance of manufacture and of course long before the equipment gets into use.

Men who delight in thoroughness of method find that the opportunity is there.

Pressureless-Writing Pen GUARANTEED FOR LIFE

31% more Parkers in college too as nation-wide pen poll shows

The late Sir Arthur Conan Doyle wrote reams of manuscript—tried all sorts of pens. Came the day, as it has to 26 million others, when he discovered the Pressureless-Writing Parker Duofold. "I have at last met my affinity in pens," he said. You, too, can gain great aid from this Pen that lets you write without strain, and think without irritation. Go to the nearest pen counter and look for the name—"Geo. S. Parker—DUOFOLD"—on the barrel. That Guarantees the genuine for life.

CO-EDS TO FORM BOWLING TEAMS

Plans are now being made for a co-ed bowling team tournament. Members of the six groups should form their teams and inform the women's A. A. of their intention to compete before February 9. The matches will be played soon after that date. If interested, group members should pass in their names and average score to their group leader as soon as possible.

NOTICE

More students are urged to use the winter sporting goods owned by the Women's Athletic Association. Care, however, should be taken of the equipment that is hired. Skis, snowshoes, and toboggans may be hired from Ellen Frame, Balentine Hall. The price is 10¢ per hour or 25¢ per half day.

Strong Competition to Be Given By Frosh in Annual Track Meet

they made a good showing. Earle Osgood, Harvey and Crosby will furnish the opposition.

In the weights the sophomores have Alley, Gonzals and Gamage who have been doing good work in these events. Favor and Hill, outstanding Frosh football players, will compete against this trio. Cobb, who has sufficiently recovered from a discus injury, will probably appear in the discus event for the Freshmen.

Havey, captain of last year's Frosh team, and Webb will appear in the pole vault and high jump. Havey will also compete in the broad jump. Floring and Crandall will be seen in action for the Freshmen in the high jump and broad jump.

The following is a list of the possible entries in the different events:

Dashes:
1933—Means, Wilson
1934—Webber, Parsons, Warren
440 yd. Run:

1933—McKiniry
1934—Hildreth, O'Connell
Mile and Half Mile:

1933—Booth, McKiniry, Pendleton
1934—Earle, Osgood, Harvey, Crosby
Hurdles:

1933—McKiniry

1934—Floring, Cuozzo

Weights:

1933—Alley, Gonzals, Gamage

1934—Favor, Hill, Cobb

Pole Vault:

1933—Havey, Webb, Elliot

High Jump:

1933—Havey, Webb

1934—Floring, Favor, Crandall

Broad Jump:

1933—Havey, Means

1934—Crandall, Favor.

Freshmen should remember that if they win the meet, all Frosh rules go into the discard.

NOTICE

All those interested in securing a teacher's position next year should register with the committee on appointments for teachers at the office in Fernald Hall as soon as possible.

"POLITICAL CORRUPTION" TO BE THEME OF CONFERENCE

The program for the annual Poland Spring Student Conference this year promises to be one of the most practical ever held. Taking as its theme "Political Corruption", the Conference will consider special privilege versus general welfare in the relation of business and government, particularly in the fields of public utilities and municipal politics.

The leaders will be Mr. Edward C. Moran, Jr., of Rockland, recent candidate for governor on the Democratic ticket, opposing a representative of the Insull interests on the Maine State power issue; Mr. Damon E. Hall, of Boston, State's Attorney in the Garrett trial, introducing the discussion on municipal politics; Dr. Harry Laidler, of New York, Executive Secretary for the League of Industrial Democracy, interpreting the implications of these issues; Professor Jerome Davis, of Yale, discussing the application of the ethic of Jesus to these situations; and Mr. Buell Gallagher of the National Student Christian Association staff, leading discussion of the relation of student groups to these problems.

The Conference will be held from Friday, February 27 to Sunday, March 1, and is open to any students and a few faculty members. The quota allotted to the University of Maine is fifteen men.

Boxing Candidates Improving Rapidly, Asali Instructing

He will, however, have quite a time keeping his title with such men as McLaughlin, Romero, Burgess, and Murphy to beat.

The fast and clever light weights are quickly rounding into shape, and there bids fair to be a battle royal for the crown of this division. Whitten, last year's champion, is in top form as are Fagan, Augenstein, Eskenas, and Shapiro.

If the boys show promise in this year's tournament, more weight will be attached to the wish of many that boxing should be made a varsity sport.

CHANGES IN ATHLETIC SCHEDULES GIVEN OUT

The following changes in the schedule of athletic events are to be noted.

The Hebron-Frosh track meet, scheduled for Feb. 14, has been postponed until the morning of March 7, the day of the Bates meet. On next Saturday, Feb. 14, there will be two athletic events here, a basketball game between the Frosh and Coburn Classical Institute, and a dual winter-sports meet with Bates.

Maine's opponent in the B.A.A. relay races, to be held Feb. 14, has been changed from Union College to New Hampshire.

Bailey Picks Cast for "Journey's End", Striking War Play

Francis Ricker '32 has the part of 2nd Lieutenant Trotter, and will give a good portrayal of the personality of this delightfully good natured fellow who does much to lift the tension of the play's heaviest scenes with his jolly comments upon "this here war".

Harold J. Barrett '33 as Private Mason, the cockney cook who neglects "to wash his dish cloth" and who makes "oniony tea" much to the distaste of his superiors, is reported to be quite capable of handling the role. Mr. Barrett will be introduced for the first time to a Masque audience.

Milton Sims '32 who will be remembered as a police officer in Galsworthy's "Escape" will in "Journey's End" have the part of the Colonel.

Philip Brockway, who plays the bluff Captain Hardy, had major roles in both "She Stoops to Conquer," and "The Passing of the Third Floor Back".

Wesley Bearce, appearing as the German boy, made his first Masque appearance in "She Stoops to Conquer."

Leif Sorensen as the Sergeant-Major, and Leon Savage as Hibbert are making their initial bows to Masque audiences.

and five women. Transportation probably will be by bus and the total expense between seventeen and twenty dollars, according to the size of the delegation.

This Conference should be of especial interest to students of economics, sociology and history. Further details may be secured from the secretaries of the Maine Christian Association.
